

Corporate Accountant

Alabaster Homes is a locally owned and managed real estate development company that specializes in multi-family projects in Metro Vancouver. With in-house development, finance, accounting, construction, sales and marketing departments, we pride ourselves on creating a collaborative, team-based culture. Alabaster is currently developing a range of mid- to high-density condominium and apartment projects and is planning to continue growth and expansion throughout Metro Vancouver and other markets in BC.

We draw our inspiration from meaningful design that spans centuries and nations, from our communities, and from the balance and harmony found in nature. We build authentic, long-lasting connections with all those who take part in making our spaces a built reality. To achieve this, we take a familial approach and strive for a culture of transparency and respect, allowing everyone to thrive, do their best, and grow concurrently

The Corporate Accountant role is an integral member of Alabaster's accounting team. Reporting directly to the Financial Controller, the Corporate Accountant will be responsible for managing the month-end process and preparation of year-end financial statements as well as CAM reconciliations. And supporting with the month-end close process, which includes bank reconciliations, loan reconciliations, intercompany reconciliations, accruals, amortization, prepaid expensing, and maintaining accounting schedules. Additionally, preparations of weekly cash management reports and participate in annual budget preparation. The role will involve different sections of treasury management, and managing government remittances such as GST, EHT, WCB, source deductions, and non-resident tax. The role might be dynamic, and you will learn more than what is on the job description to help the team and to help you grow your career.

The ideal candidate is a professional accountant with 3+ years of experience in full cycle accounting preferably from a relevant industry or public practice. Because you are joining a growing and self-motivated team, we are seeking like-minded candidates with a strong work ethic and an ability to thrive in a culture of excellence.

The expected base salary depending on experience is $65,000 – $80,000. Alabaster Homes offers a competitive compensation package, plus benefits, including extended health, vision and dental following successful completion of a probation period.

With over 25 years of experience in the local development industry, Alabaster homes offer ample of opportunities for professional development and growth. Employees learn from seasons professionals and gain valuable industry insights.

We thank you for your application. We expect interest in this opportunity to be considerable and consequently we can only get back to those with the required skills and experience. Submit a resume to our search partner: Haidar.Waled@hays.com